

How to Build an Assembly

Forward

This How to Build an Assembly training course is the culmination of a 4-year effort by American State Nationals/American State Citizens from all 50 States of the Union. It is based on the writings of Anna Maria Riezinger, pen name Anna Von Reitz, who woke up in 1998 along with her Husband James Clinton Belcher (1943-2025) who found out that he was the Hereditary Head of State when he was 60 years old, as his Mother laid on her death bed.

It was a courageous effort on Anna and James' part to dig for the truth of fraud that was perpetrated against the true American Government and the American Dream, and begin the long process of educating, informing and calling the State Assemblies into session. Anna developed a writing style that was rich and meaty with truth, and history that few dared to pen, and a constant request to wake up and discover the truth for yourself.

Many of us heard the call from her blog: www.annavonrietz.com faithfully published by Paul Stramer since 2014, and showed up. It is not an easy task and it takes effort to unlearn all of the indoctrination and deliberate lies that have been fed to you - even by your own family members - but to be fair, they really didn't know either. The truth has been smashed, redefined and hidden, and the perpetrators are continually moving the cheese.

For myself, it took me 6 months to break the indoctrination. My process was simple: I would wake up each morning and read 1 - 3 of her articles. If I didn't know a word, I would look it up. If I wasn't aware of a document or a reference, I would look it up. It was a lot of work because Anna used words and history and documents I had never heard of. None of what she talked about was taught in any school I attended.

This was hard work and it made my brain hurt. But I stuck with it, every single day. At the 6-month mark, I woke up, made my coffee, picked up an article and I was amazed when I read the article and I understood every word, every concept, every reference! What a miracle! I had broken the indoctrination!

As I worked through this 6-month exercise, I could feel my brain rewiring - I could feel the physical action of neurons retraining, refiring, or in some cases maybe firing for the very first time!

You can do this too – anyone can do it! But it does require effort and study. I can affirm that it is worth the effort.

This effort is the genesis of How to Build an Assembly training course. I began thinking about a training course, and how to carve it up into consumable and understandable pieces and parts.

When you look at Anna's blog, as of this writing she has 5,698 articles! Anyone new to her material can easily be overwhelmed. We recommend that if you do start reading the blog – start with the newest documents first.

This has been a progressive learning effort, and we have grown, and in some cases, shed some requirements as the bankruptcies have progressed. There are certain processes that we used to do (such as 928's) that are no longer required and are only nice to have at this date.

The learning, training and undoing the indoctrination is and will be ongoing. It will never end, but the requirements will change moving forward. It is a noble journey. It is an investment in our collective effort to reconstruct the true American Government with its Federal Subcontractor instrumentalities.
